Bill for Introduction into the National Assembly—

The Representation of Special Interest Groups Laws (Amendment) Bill, 2019 ..... 833
THE REPRESENTATION OF SPECIAL INTEREST GROUPS LAWS (AMENDMENT) BILL, 2019

A Bill for

AN ACT of Parliament to amend various laws to give further effect to Article 100 of the Constitution; to promote the representation in Parliament of women, persons with disabilities, youth, ethnic and other minorities and marginalised communities and for connected purposes

ENACTED by the Parliament of Kenya, as follows—

1. This Act may be cited as the Representation of Special Interest Groups Laws (Amendment) Act, 2019.

2. (1) The object and purpose of this Act is to amend the provisions of electoral and related laws to give further effect to Article 100 of the Constitution on the promotion of the representation in Parliament of women, persons with disabilities, youth, ethnic and other minorities and marginalised communities.

   (2) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1), this Act seeks to—

      (a) enhance the funding of special interests groups through assured disbursements from the Political Parties Fund;

      (b) require political parties to allocate funds disbursed from the Political Parties Fund to election campaign activities of special interest groups through publicity and other measures;

      (c) mandate the National Gender and Equality Commission with the function of conducting and facilitating civic and voter education to sensitize the public on the right of special interest groups to participate in the electoral process;

      (d) provide a forum for harnessing political will to support the representation in Parliament of special interest groups;

      (e) require political parties to enhance the representation of special interest groups in elective bodies by ensuring that their nomination lists comply with the provisions of Article 54(2) and 81(b) of the Constitution;

(f) require the Independent Electoral and Boundaries Commission to ensure lists submitted by political parties seeking to participate in a parliamentary election comply with the provisions of Article 54(2) and 81(b) of the Constitution; and

(g) enhance the capacity of special interest groups to participate in the electoral process.

Insertion of a new section 11A in No.37 of 2016.
MEMORANDUM OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Statement of Objects and Reasons of the Bill

Article 100 of the Constitution requires Parliament to enact legislation to promote the representation in Parliament of women, persons with disabilities, youth, ethnic and other minorities and marginalized communities collectively referred to as special interest groups.

This Bill seeks to make amendments to various existing laws in order to give further effect to Article 100 of the Constitution. It contains proposed amendments to the following laws—

Persons With Disabilities Act (No. 14 of 2003)

The Bill seeks to amend the Persons With Disabilities Act, 2003 to require the National Council of Persons with Disabilities to promote the inclusion of persons with disabilities in decision-making bodies, boards, agencies and other public institutions and organisations as part of the functions it undertakes.

The Independent Electoral and Boundaries Commission Act (No. 9 of 2011)

The Bill proposes to amend the Independent Electoral and Boundaries Commission Act, 2011 to define special interest groups as those provided for in Article 100 of the Constitution. It also provides for disaggregation of the data on the voters' roll on the basis of all categories of special interest groups and requires the Commission to conduct the nominations of the party lists to ensure the process is in line with Article 90 of the Constitution.

The proposed amendments also require voter education to include special interest groups and to utilize such communication modes as may be accessible to persons with disabilities including persons with hearing or visual impairment.

Political Parties Act (No. 11 of 2011)

The Bill proposes to amend the Political Parties Act, 2011 by defining special interest groups as those provided for in Article 100 of the Constitution. It also provides additional requirements for a political party to be eligible for registration.

The Bill also proposes to amend sections 25 and 29 of the Act to provide that 20% of the Political Parties Fund be distributed based on the elected numbers of special interest groups and to require a political party to specifically publish in its statement of income and expenditure, the amount allocated and expended on the special interest groups, respectively.
The amendments also emphasize that the publication of the notice of any change in the constitution of a political party should be on its website and in a manner and form that is accessible to special interest groups.

The Bill further proposes the amendment of the First and Second Schedules of the Act on the code of conduct for political parties by making it a requirement for political parties to implement the formulated affirmative action policies, programmes and strategies and prescribing the need for the constitution of political parties to include membership of special interest groups and manner of nomination of candidates to political party lists.

The Bill also provides for the powers of the Registrar to make Regulations pertaining to the procedure for nomination of a candidate for a party list at the branch level for county assemblies and National Delegates conference for National Assembly and Senate.

The National Gender and Equality Commission Act (No. 15 of 2011)

The Bill proposes to amend section 8 of the National Gender and Equality Commission Act, 2011 to expand the mandate of the Commission in operationalizing the provisions of Article 100 of the Constitution, through, among other activities, monitoring implementation of affirmative action programmes and identifying and addressing the challenges faced by the special interest groups.

The Elections Act (No. 24 of 2011)

The Bill proposes to amend the Elections Act, 2011 to require each political party to ensure that at least one third of its candidates for nominations are of either gender. In addition, the Bill proposes amendments to the Elections Act, 2011 to preclude the Independent Electoral and Boundaries Commission from accepting any list of candidates for election which does not have at least one third of the candidates from either gender and at least five per cent of its candidates as persons with disabilities in line with constitutional requirements.

Election Campaign Financing Act (No. 42 of 2013)

The Bill seeks to amend the Election Campaign Financing Act, 2013 to require the Independent Electoral and Boundaries Commission to take into consideration candidates from special interest groups when prescribing the spending limits applicable to election campaigns.

Election Offences Act (No. 37 of 2016)

The Bill seeks to amend the Election Offences Act, 2016 to criminalize the use of demeaning or derogatory language targeted at special interest groups in the election process. Under the Act, the general penalty for any offence is a fine not exceeding one million shillings or imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years, or both the fine and imprisonment.

Statement on the delegation of legislative powers and limitation of fundamental rights and freedoms

The Bill does not limit any fundamental right or freedom.

Statement that the Bill concerns county governments

The Bill concerns County Governments in terms of Article 110 (1) (b) of the Constitution as it seeks to amend laws relating to the election of members of a county assembly.

Statement that the Bill is a money Bill within the meaning of Article 114 of the Constitution

The enactment of this Bill shall occasion additional expenditure of public funds to be provided for through the annual estimates.

JEREMIAH KIONI,
Chairperson, Constitutional, Implementation Oversight Committee.
Section 7 of the Persons With Disabilities Act, 2011 that it is proposed to be amended—
