CHAIRPERSON'S FOREWORD

This report details the consideration by the Departmental Committee on Defence, Intelligence and Foreign Relations of the Agreement between the Government of the Republic of Kenya and the Government of the Republic of Seychelles on Defence Cooperation.

The Defence Agreement aims to promote and enhance military cooperation in Defence and security matters by developing and fostering bilateral relations in military fields. Kenya and Seychelles cooperate in many areas including trade, maritime security and the fight against piracy, the blue economy, parliamentary exchanges, exchanges between the chambers of commerce, youth and sports, cultural exchanges, fisheries, exchange of information, exchanges in labour, experts, skills, and expertise.

In considering the Agreement, the Committee held a total of three (3) Sittings. The first sitting was for an internal briefing on the agreement in order to familiarize with its contents. The second sitting was with the Cabinet Secretary for Defence to apprise members of the rationale for the DCA. The third sitting was to consider and adopt this report.

Pursuant to Article 118(1)(b) of the Constitution on Public Participation and Section 8(3) of the Treaty Making and Ratification Act, 2012, the Committee placed advertisements in two local dailies on Thursday 23rd February 2023, calling for submissions of Memoranda on the subject matter. By the close of the deadline, the Committee did not receive any Memorandum for or against the ratification of the Agreement.

The Committee observed that globally, bilateral Defence Cooperation Agreements (DCAs) have emerged as the most common practice of institutionalized defense cooperation. DCAs establish broad defense-oriented legal frameworks between parties thus facilitating cooperation in defense policy coordination, research and development, joint military exercises, education and training, arms procurement, and exchange of classified information. It further noted that Seychelles and Kenya share a common border at sea. Therefore, being neighbours, it is imperative that they maintain structured defence cooperation for their mutual benefit. Further, the Committee observed that Seychelles is a critical training ground, especially for the Kenya Navy. It is therefore in Kenya's interest to foster defence cooperation with Seychelles. Further, on claims and indemnity, the DCA provides for cross indemnities and/or claims settlement caused by negligence, with parties negotiating a settlement for third-party claims in accordance with the law.

Having reviewed the Agreement and considered the submissions made, the Committee recommends that pursuant to Section 8 of the Treaty Making and Ratification Act, 2012, the House adopts and approves the Ratification of the Agreement between the Government of the Republic of Kenya and the Government of the Republic of Seychelles on Defence Cooperation.

Pursuant to Standing Orders 199(6) and 170A (4) it is my pleasant duty to present to the House the Report of the Departmental Committee on Defence and Foreign Relations on its consideration of the Agreement between the Government of the Republic of Kenya and the Government of the Republic of Seychelles on Defence Cooperation.

Hon. Nelson Koech, M.P.

Chairperson, Departmental Committee on Defence, Intelligence and Foreign Relations

2.0 BACKGROUND

2.1 The Republic of Seychelles

8. Seychelles, officially the Republic of Seychelles, is an island country in the western Indian Ocean comprising about 115 islands with lush tropical vegetation, beautiful beaches, and a wide variety of marine life. Situated between latitudes 4° and 11° S and longitudes 46° and 56° E, the major islands of Seychelles are located about 1,000 miles (1,600 km) east of Kenya and about 700 miles (1,100 km) northeast of Madagascar.¹
9. Seychelles has a total land mass of 455km² which makes it the smallest country in Africa. The total coastline of the islands is 491 km. The biggest islands are Mahé (154km²), Praslin (38km²), Silhouette (20km²), and La Digue (10km²), all of which are granite islands like most other islands among the so-called inner islands. The outer islands are a group of coral islands that are smaller and quite scattered in the Indian Ocean. 58,61% of the land mass is protected which is the highest ratio in the world. The capital, Victoria, is situated on the island of Mahé².
10. The first recorded landing on uninhabited Seychelles was made in 1609 by an expedition of the British East India Company. The French claimed the archipelago in 1756 but surrendered it to the British in 1810. It became a British crown colony in 1903 and a republic within the Commonwealth in 1976. It is a multiparty republic with one legislative house; its head of state and government is the president.³
11. As of 2023, the country had an estimated population of 101,500 people. The mixed population is of French, African, and Asian ancestry. The languages used include Creole, English, and French. The religion practised is largely Christianity (predominantly Roman Catholic). However, smaller populations of Hindus and Muslims exist.⁴
12. Seychelles has a mixed developing economy that is heavily dependent upon the service sector in general and the tourism industry in particular. Despite continued deficits, the economy has experienced steady growth. Exports include fish, copra, and cinnamon. The Gross Domestic Product (GDP) is growing more rapidly than the population. The gross national income (GNI) per capita is significantly higher than those found in most nearby continental African countries. It's noteworthy that Seychelles has a modern fishing industry that supplies domestic and foreign markets; canned tuna is particularly important. The extraction of guano for export is also an established economic activity.⁵
13. Seychelles Defense Forces (SDF), formed in 1977, is one of the world's smallest militaries. It has approximately 500 personnel (2022). Its primary responsibility is maritime security, particularly countering illegal fishing, piracy, and drug smuggling. The SDF is comprised of the Army (includes infantry, special forces, and a presidential security unit), Coast Guard, and Air Force. The military reports to the president as the Minister of Defence. It is noteworthy that Seychelles has strong security ties with India (2023).⁶

2.2 International Practice - Defence Cooperation

14. Bilateral Defence Cooperation Agreements (DCAs) have emerged as the most common practice of institutionalized defence cooperation. DCAs establish broad defence-oriented legal frameworks between parties thus facilitating cooperation in defence policy coordination, research and development, joint military exercises, education and training, arms procurement, and exchange of classified information. The radical shifts in the global security environment since the 1980s have fueled demand for DCAs. Largely, states use DCAs to modernize their militaries, respond to shared security threats, and establish security umbrellas with like-minded states.⁷
15. Technological developments, dramatically escalating costs, more restricted defence budgets, as well as new threats, have led to fewer and leaner armed forces. The response across countries has been to seek deeper international cooperation to reduce costs, maintain capabilities and achieve a greater effect. The deeper the integration, the more military capabilities it provides access to. The trend is towards specialization in terms of functions or tasks, i.e. cooperative arrangements in which the participants depend on one another when the necessity to use resources arises. However, in view of the complicated issues that are often raised by defence cooperation, there is a tendency to limit participation to a relatively small group of countries linked by geographical or cultural proximity.⁸
16. Governments rarely sign new alliances, and the global alliance structure has remained relatively static for decades. By contrast, governments are increasingly active in defence cooperation agreements (DCAs). Nearly 2,000 DCAs have been signed since 1980. Evidence suggests that DCAs impact numerous security, military, and defence outcomes and that governments increasingly incorporate DCAs as core elements of their security strategies. The distinctions between DCAs and other agreement types are apparent in their institutional characteristics. While alliances focus primarily on conflict, DCAs exclusively address cooperation. They contain no mutual defence or nonaggression commitments. DCAs have proliferated rapidly and they tend to be relatively symmetric in the commitments they impose on signatories. They endure for periods of 5–10 years or longer.
17. There is anecdotal evidence of DCAs' significance globally. In the 1940s and 1950s, the United States entered into dozens of defence agreements with partners in Europe, South America, and Asia. Many of these agreements were drafted under the aegis of the Mutual Defense Assistance Act or its successor, the Mutual Security Act, and focused heavily on the provision of military aid. Others focused on the status of forces, the establishment of US bases and/or troops, or airspace access for US military aircraft. These agreements were highly asymmetric and designed to maintain or improve the preponderant military position of the United States. European powers established similar agreements with their former colonies. Despite their asymmetries, these agreements bore similarities to present-day DCAs in that they established comprehensive defence frameworks. Equally, after the loss of its Soviet sponsor in the early 1990s, Mongolia deployed a web of nearly three dozen DCAs to ensure access to defence-related training, education, weapons, and research. Further, a historic 2014 DCA between Russia and Pakistan led to arms transfers, counterterror drills, and joint antidrug exercises in the Arabian Sea.⁹

2.3 Background to Kenya – Seychelles Defence Cooperation Agreement

18. Kenya and Seychelles cooperate in many areas including trade, maritime security and the fight against piracy, the blue economy, parliamentary exchanges, exchanges between the chambers of commerce, youth and sports, cultural exchanges, fisheries, exchange of information, exchanges in labour, experts, skills, and expertise.
19. On 18th July, 2022, the Seychelles' Minister for Foreign Affairs and Tourism, Mr. Sylvestre Radegonde, and the former Cabinet Secretary of Foreign Affairs for the Republic of Kenya, Ambassador Raychelle Omamo, SC, EGH signed, among others, the Defence Cooperation Agreement Between the Government of the Republic of Kenya and the Government of the Republic of Seychelles. Other agreements concerned mutual assistance on criminal matters, Blue Economy, Memorandum of Understanding for peace, security and law enforcement at sea, maritime affairs, tourism development, agriculture, livestock, and cooperative sectors, security and crime combatting, sports, promotion on partnership on gender equality and promoting women economic empowerment.
20. The Ministry of Defence, the Cabinet Secretary, Ministry of Defence, Hon. Aden Duale submitted a copy of the Defence Cooperation Agreement Between the Government of the Republic of Kenya and the Government of the Republic of Seychelles and a Memorandum dated 28th November 2022 to the Speaker of the National Assembly for consideration by the National Assembly.
21. The purpose of the Memorandum was to appraise the National Assembly on the Agreement and to seek approval of the National Assembly for ratification of the Agreement.
22. The Memorandum provided a background that the Kenya Defence Forces has been cooperating with Seychelles People's Defence Force on maritime security and support training, therefore the government of the republic of Seychelles on 6th April 2022 expressed the desire to conclude a defence cooperation agreement with Kenya.
23. A delegation from Seychelles was hosted in Nairobi from 25th -29th April 2022 to discuss the terms of the agreement, and a draft was sent to the office of the Attorney-General for approval, and clearance was provided. The resulting agreement was executed on 18th July, 2022.

 - b) Bilateral Relations- This agreement is also going to enhance bilateral relations between the two parties since its set to run for 5 years with automatic renewal for another 5 years, after which the agreement will be reviewed. This is going to enhance trade between the parties which is going to be impactful to the Kenya economy and hence strengthen the relationship between the two countries.

PART III

3.0 PUBLIC PARTICIPATION/STAKEHOLDER CONSULTATION

3.1 Call for Memoranda from the Public

49. Pursuant to Article 118(1)(b) of the Constitution on Public Participation and Section 8(3) of the Treaty Making and Ratification Act, 2012, the Committee placed advertisements in two local dailies, on Thursday February, 23rd, 2023, calling for submissions of memoranda on the subject matter. By the close of the deadline, the Committee did not receive any Memorandum on the Agreement.

3.2 Meeting with the Cabinet Secretary, Ministry of Defence

The Cabinet Secretary Ministry of Defence, Hon. Aden Duale, EGH appeared before the Committee on 17th March, 2023, and submitted as follows:

50. Section 37 of the Kenya Defence Forces Act (KDFA) governs cooperation with external forces and provides that any treaty or agreement between GoK and any other state or international institution or organization regarding the use or provision of military forces shall provide for:
- a) The legal status of: Members of the Defence Forces placed at the disposal of the military authorities of such State, institution or organization; and foreign military personnel and their mission while the personnel are deployed in Kenya;
 - b) The conditions of operation of the Defence Forces, and the foreign military personnel outside gazetted areas;
 - c) Compensation of local communities in the event of accidents in areas where the military is deployed;
 - d) The treaty or agreement entered into pursuant to section 37 KDFA shall put in place mechanisms to: protect the interests of the local community of the place where the foreign military forces are deployed; and provide that the foreign forces are subject to the Constitution and all the Laws of Kenya.
51. On 6 April 2022 Ministry of Foreign Affairs notified MoD of a draft DCA proposed by the Republic of Seychelles.
52. The KDF and Seychelles People's Defence Forces met on various occasions to negotiate the agreement and the final text was submitted for clearance.
53. Opinion from the Attorney General approved the final text of the agreements as sound from a legal perspective and the National Treasury gave its concurrence.
54. The Cabinet Secretary for Foreign Affairs notified the Cabinet Secretary for Defence that the Seychelles DCA was signed on 18 July 2022 during the state visit to the Republic of Seychelles.
55. The Ministry further indicated that DCAs establish frameworks for promoting bilateral military cooperation in Defence and security; cooperation in identified joint fields on a reciprocal basis and mutual benefit; and the implementation mechanisms.

56. Further, DCAs place an obligation on visiting forces to comply with domestic and international laws and specifies the areas for cooperation anchored on strategic interests and priorities.
57. Therefore, the DCA with Seychelles has identified the following areas for cooperation:
- a) Maritime security
 - b) Counterterrorism
 - c) Information exchange
 - d) Exchange of Defence and military delegations
 - e) Exchange of military students/instructors/directing staff
 - f) Joint military training exercises
 - g) Procurement of defence equipment, supplies, and repair services subject to national laws
 - h) Participation in trade, science, or technology exhibits
 - i) Research and development in defence science and technology
 - j) Other fields that may be agreed upon according to the nature of this Agreement
58. The implementation mechanism thus involves a Joint Military Cooperation Committee and a Joint Technical Committee which will formulate work plans for the implementation of the DCA, with representation of at least three (3) uniformed personnel for each party. They will convene alternately in Seychelles and Kenya, with the Joint Military Cooperation Committee meeting annually while the Joint Technical Committee meets twice per annum or as directed by the Cooperation Committee.
59. Some of the key provisions of the DCA are mandatory requirements to conform to Kenyan laws and international obligations. The Financial arrangements include each party bears their costs; travel costs, insurance, evacuation salaries and allowances; and training costs to be administered through supplemental arrangements. Further, security and visits will be guided by the host nation's laws, with coordination of visits to be implemented through designated points of contact.
60. The DCA also provides for obligations to protect classified information; obligation to protect the intellectual property of each party; legal status is to be conferred in accordance with host nation laws; and the Host Nation retains primary jurisdiction for criminal offences, with offences that violate military discipline to be disposed of by respective parties in accordance with their military laws and regulations.
61. Further, on claims and indemnity, the DCA provides for cross indemnities and/or claims settlement caused by negligence, with parties negotiating settlement for third-party claims in accordance with the law. The DCA further provides for the settlement of disputes on DCA implementation through amicable means and Community relations that: respect and are sensitive to traditions, customs, and local cultures of communities; and respect and protect vulnerable groups.
62. Additionally, the DCA provides that each party is to retain their respective command for military personnel and ensure the security of equipment uniforms, arms & equipment (Obligation to maintain safe custody of armaments, uniforms, and other defence articles; with a requirement to provide notice when importing the same).
63. On entry, movement, and exit, the DCA provides for freedom of movement within the host nation; prohibited immigrants not to be permitted; and compliance with host immigration laws.

64. Finally, on taxation, importation, and exportation, the DCA provides for the importation of goods for official use tax-free; and importation subject to inspections and customs regulations. It also prescribes the procedures for identification, vehicle registration, investigation procedures for accidents, and entry into Force, duration, amendment, termination

PART IV

- a) Globally, bilateral Defence Cooperation Agreements (DCAs) have emerged as the most common practice of institutionalized defence cooperation. DCAs establish broad defence-oriented legal frameworks between parties thus facilitating cooperation in defence policy coordination, research and development, joint military exercises, education and training, arms procurement, and exchange of classified information.

CONSIDERATION AND ADOPTION OF A REPORT ON THE DEFENCE COOPERATION
AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF
KENYA AND THE GOVERNMENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF SEYCHELLES.

After lengthy deliberations, the Committee Report on the Defence Cooperation Agreement between the Government of the Republic of Kenya and the Government of the Republic of Seychelles was adopted after being proposed by Hon. Martha Wangari, M.P and seconded by Hon. Ikana Fredrick Lusuli, M.P

It was adopted with the following observations and recommendations:

Observations

The Committee observed as follows:

1. Globally, bilateral defence cooperation agreements (DCAs) have emerged as the most common practice of institutionalized defence cooperation. DCAs establish broad defence-oriented legal frameworks between parties thus facilitating cooperation in defence policy coordination, research and development, joint military exercises, education and training, arms procurement, and exchange of classified information.
2. The Republic of Seychelles and the Republic of Kenya share a common border at sea. Therefore, being neighbours, it is imperative that they maintain structured defence cooperation for their mutual benefit.
3. The Republic of Seychelles is a crucial and ideal training ground, especially for the Kenya Navy. It is therefore in Kenya's interest to foster defence cooperation with Seychelles.
4. Further, on claims and indemnity, the DCA provides for cross indemnities and/or claims settlement caused by negligence, with parties negotiating settlement for third-party claims in accordance with the law.
5. Seychelles Defense Forces (SDF), formed in 1977, is one of the world's smallest militaries. It has approximately 500 personnel (2022). Its primary responsibility is maritime security, particularly countering illegal fishing, piracy, and drug smuggling.

Recommendation

The Committee recommended that pursuant to Section 8 of the Treaty Making and Ratification Act, 2012, the House approves the Ratification of the Agreement between the Government of the Republic of Kenya and the Government of the Republic of Seychelles on Defence Cooperation.

MIN.NO. DDC/DIFR/93/2023: BRIEFING ON THE KENYA-SEYCHELLES DEFENCE COOPERATION AGREEMENT BY THE MINISTRY OF DEFENCE.

The Cabinet Secretary Ministry of Defence, Hon. Aden Duale, EGH appeared before the Committee to brief the Committee on the Agreement. He submitted as follows:

1. Section 37 of the Kenya Defence Forces Act (KDFA) governs cooperation with external forces and provides that any treaty or agreement between GoK and any other state or international institution or organization regarding the use or provision of military forces shall provide for:

 - d) The treaty or agreement entered into pursuant to section 37 KDFA shall put in place mechanisms to: protect the interests of the local community of the place where the foreign military forces are deployed; and provide that the foreign forces are subject to the Constitution and all the Laws of Kenya
2. On 6 April 2022 Ministry of Foreign Affairs notified the MoD of a draft DCA proposed by the Republic of Seychelles
3. KDF and Seychelles People's Defence Forces met on various occasions to negotiate the agreement and the final text submitted for clearance

4. Opinion from the Attorney General approved the final text of the agreements as sound from a legal perspective and National Treasury gave their concurrence
5. CS Foreign Affairs notified CS Defence that the Seychelles DCA was signed on 18 July 2022 during the state visit to the Republic of Seychelles
6. The Ministry further indicated that DCAs establish frameworks for promoting bilateral military cooperation in defence and security; cooperation in identified joint fields on a reciprocal basis and mutual benefit; and the implementation mechanisms.
7. Further, DCAs place an obligation on visiting forces to comply with domestic and international laws and specifies the areas for cooperation anchored on strategic interests and priorities.
8. The DCA with Seychelles identified the following areas for co-operation
 - a) Maritime security
 - b) Counterterrorism
 - c) Information exchange
 - d) Exchange of defence and military delegations
 - e) Exchange of military students/instructors/directing staff
 - f) Joint military training exercises
 - g) Procurement of defence equipment, supplies, and repair services subject to national laws
 - h) Participation in trade, science, or technology exhibits
 - i) Research and development in defence science and technology
 - j) Other fields that may be agreed upon according to the nature of this Agreement
9. The implementation mechanism thus involves a Joint Military Co-operation Committee and a Joint Technical Committee which will formulate work plans for implementation of the DCA, with the representation of at least three (3) uniformed personnel for each party. They will convene alternately in Seychelles and Kenya, with the Joint Military Co-operation Committee meeting annually while the Joint Technical Committee meets twice per annum or as directed by the Co-operation Committee.
10. Some of the key provisions of the DCA are mandatory requirements to conform to Kenyan laws and international obligations. The Financial arrangements include each party bearing their costs; travel costs, insurance, evacuation salaries, and allowances; and training costs to be administered through supplemental arrangements. Further, security and visits will be guided by the host nation's laws, with coordination of visits to be implemented through designated points of contact.
11. The DCA also provides for obligations to protect classified information; obligation to protect the intellectual property of each party; legal status is to be conferred in accordance with host nation laws; and the Host Nation retains primary jurisdiction for criminal offenses, with offenses that violate military discipline to be disposed of by respective parties in accordance with their military laws and regulations.
12. Further, on claims and indemnity, the DCA provides for cross indemnities and/or claims settlement caused by negligence, with parties negotiating a settlement for third-party claims in accordance with the law. The DCA further provides for the settlement of disputes on DCA implementation through amicable means and Community relations that: respect and are sensitive to traditions, customs, and local cultures of communities; and respect and protect vulnerable groups.
13. Additionally, the DCA provides that each party is to retain their respective command for military personnel and ensure the security of equipment uniforms, arms & equipment (Obligation to maintain safe custody of armaments, uniforms, and other defence articles; with a requirement to provide notice when importing the same)

14. On entry, movement, and exit, the DCA provides for freedom of movement within the host nation; prohibited immigrants not to be permitted; and compliance with host immigration laws.
15. Finally, on taxation, importation, and exportation, the DCA provides for the importation of goods for official use tax-free; and importation subject to inspections and customs regulations. It also prescribes the procedures for identification, vehicle registration, investigation procedures for accidents, and entry into Force, duration, amendment, termination

MIN.NO. DDC/DIFR/94/2023:

OBSERVATIONS

The Committee observed that:

1. Seychelles and Kenya share a common border at sea. Therefore, being neighbors, it is imperative that they maintain structured defence cooperation for their mutual benefit.
2. Further, Seychelles is a critical training ground, especially for the Kenya Navy. It is therefore in Kenya's interest to continue with the defence cooperation between the two countries.
3. Seychelles, with a population of approximately 100,000 people, doesn't match Kenya in terms of technology and military prowess. The defence cooperation is therefore likely to benefit Seychelles more than Kenya in terms of assuring Seychelles' maritime security and training.
4. Further, on claims and indemnity, the DCA provides for cross indemnities and/or claims settlement caused by negligence, with parties negotiating a settlement for third-party claims in accordance with the law.
5. There was a need for the Committee to introduce amendments to the Treaty Making and Ratification Act, 2012 to provide for the amendment of conventions before the House approves them for ratification.

1. Kenya and Seychelles cooperate in many areas including trade, maritime security and the fight against piracy, the blue economy, parliamentary exchanges, exchanges between the chambers of commerce, youth and sports, cultural exchanges, fisheries, exchange of information, exchanges in labour, experts, skills, and expertise.
2. On 18th July, 2022, Seychelles' Minister for Foreign Affairs and Tourism, Mr. Sylvestre Radegonde, and the former Cabinet Secretary of Foreign Affairs for the Republic of Kenya, Ambassador Raychelle Omamo, signed agreements concerning Defence, mutual assistance on criminal matters, Blue Economy, Memorandum of Understanding for peace, security and law enforcement at sea, maritime affairs, tourism development, agriculture, livestock, and cooperative sectors, security and crime combatting, sports, promotion on partnership on gender equality and promoting women economic empowerment.
3. This Defence agreement between the two countries aims to promote and enhance strong military cooperation in Defence and security matters through developing and fostering bilateral relations in military fields.
4. Some of the important policy implications include the following: -
 - a) Employment- This agreement is believed to create jobs for both permanent staff and temporary staff, hence it will help to solve the problem of the high unemployment rate in Kenya and delivers projects that will also support the local communities.
 - b) Training- The ratification of this agreement is going to enhance joint military training. Deployed soldiers work with partner nations to share skills in military aspects. These pieces of training are very effective and will help the Kenya Defence Forces (KDF) deliver training to their troops after completing the course.
 - c) Bilateral Relations- This agreement is also going to enhance bilateral relations between the two parties since it is set to run for 5 years with automatic renewal for another 5 years, after which this agreement will be reviewed, this is going to enhance trade between the parties which is going to be impactful to the Kenya economy and hence strengthening the relationship between the two countries.

5. The bilateral relations between Kenya and Seychelles have been mutual. Strengthening of Defence cooperation will therefore go a long way into enhancing the bilateral relations between the two countries.

MIN.NO. DDC/DIFR/42/2023:

OBSERVATIONS

The Committee observed that:

1. Bilateral relations between Kenya and Seychelles have been cordial. Strengthening defence cooperation would enhance the bilateral relations between the two countries.
2. Seychelles, with a population of approximately 100,000 people, doesn't match Kenya in terms of technology and military prowess. The defence cooperation is therefore likely to benefit Seychelles more than Kenya in terms of assuring Seychelles' maritime security and training. However, Seychelles and Kenya share a common border at sea. Therefore, being neighbors, it is important that they maintain structured defence cooperation for their mutual benefit.

MIN.NO. DDC/DIFR/43/2023:

COURTESY CALL BY A VISITING DELEGATION OF THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE OF THE UGANDAN PARLIAMENT.

Welcoming Remarks by the Chairperson, Kenya

The Chairperson made his welcome remarks stating that:

1. The Kenyan Parliament has maintained an active Parliamentary Friendship Group (PFG) with their counterparts from Uganda in recent parliaments.
2. In terms of bilateral parliamentary relations, the two countries have had a number of cooperative initiatives over the years. For example, in 2019, the Speakers of the Kenyan Parliament and the Ugandan Parliament signed a memorandum of understanding aimed at strengthening parliamentary cooperation and information sharing between the two countries.
3. The memorandum of understanding covers a number of areas, including promoting the exchange of information on parliamentary practices, strengthening the capacity of parliamentary committees, and collaborating on legislative initiatives. It also includes provisions for the two parliaments to work together on issues of mutual interest, such as regional integration, peace and security, and economic development.
4. Kenya and Uganda have collaborated on a number of issues over the years, including:
 - a) Regional integration: Kenya and Uganda are members of the East African Community (EAC) and have worked together to promote economic integration and cooperation within the region. For example, they have collaborated on the implementation of the EAC Common Market Protocol, which aims to create a single market for goods, services, and labor within the EAC.
 - b) Infrastructure: Kenya and Uganda have collaborated on a number of infrastructure projects, such as the construction of the Mombasa-Nairobi-Kampala railway line and the standard gauge railway line that will eventually connect Mombasa to Kampala, Kigali, and other cities in the region.

- c) Peace and security: Kenya and Uganda have collaborated on peace and security issues in the region, including the fight against terrorism and cross-border crime. For example, the two countries have been working together as part of the African Union Mission in Somalia (AMISOM) to combat the extremist group Al-Shabaab.
 - d) Energy: Kenya and Uganda have collaborated on energy projects, such as the construction of the East African Crude Oil Pipeline, which will transport crude oil from Uganda to the port of Tanga in Tanzania via Kenya.
 - e) Agriculture: Both Kenya and Uganda are agricultural countries, and they have collaborated on initiatives to improve agricultural productivity and food security in the region. For example, the two countries have worked together on research and development of new crop varieties and on initiatives to promote regional trade in agricultural products.
 - f) Tourism: Kenya and Uganda both have significant tourism industries, and they have worked together to promote tourism in the region. For example, the two countries have jointly marketed themselves as single tourist destination, highlighting the range of natural and cultural attractions available in both countries.
 - g) Health: Kenya and Uganda have collaborated on health initiatives, such as efforts to combat the spread of HIV/AIDS and other communicable diseases. For example, the two countries have worked together on joint research initiatives and initiatives to improve access to healthcare services in the region.
 - h) Education: Kenya and Uganda have collaborated on education initiatives, such as student exchanges and joint research projects. For example, the two countries have collaborated on initiatives to improve access to education for girls and other disadvantaged groups, as well as on initiatives to promote research and innovation in the education sector.
5. Despite their generally strong diplomatic and parliamentary relations, there have been some areas of divergence between Kenya and Uganda over the years.
- a) Trade: Kenya and Uganda are both members of the East African Community (EAC), which is a regional intergovernmental organization that aims to promote economic integration and cooperation among its member states. However, there have been tensions between Kenya and Uganda over trade issues within the EAC, with each country accusing the other of unfair trade practices.
 - b) Border disputes: Kenya and Uganda share a border, and there have been occasional disputes over the years over issues such as border demarcation and access to resources such as the Mingingo island of Lake Victoria.
 - c) Refugees: Uganda has been hosting a large number of refugees from neighboring countries such as South Sudan and the Democratic Republic of Congo. However, there have been concerns in Kenya and other neighboring countries about the impact of these refugees on regional stability and security.
 - d) Regional politics: Kenya and Uganda have sometimes found themselves on opposite sides of regional political issues. For example, in the early 2000s, Kenya was a strong supporter of the Sudan People's Liberation Movement/Army (SPLM/A) during the civil war in Sudan, while Uganda was supporting the government of Sudan.

Remarks by the Chairperson, Uganda

The Chairperson made her remarks stating that:

1. She appreciated the Committee's acceptance to host the delegation at a short notice.

2. Kenya and Uganda have a long and proud history of cordial relations and there was need to further foster the relations.
3. There were challenges that had prompted their visit to Kenya including that Ugandans had challenges obtaining work permits to work in Kenya, the auction of goods at the port of Mombasa destined for Uganda due to delays in port clearance and charging of extra fees for Ugandan students in Kenyan universities (higher by a factor of 1.5).
4. She affirmed her conviction that the foregoing challenges ought to be resolved through the East African Community platform.

Observations

It was observed that:

1. There was a need to deal with colonial borders through the East African Community and thereby open up the economies for vibrant growth.
2. The gay debate in Uganda had a lot of resonance with the position held by a majority of Kenyans.
3. There was a need for more political exchanges to enhance democracy across the East African region.
4. Tourism had been enhanced in Uganda courtesy of the lessons learned from Kenya. There was a need to foster the ties on the tourism front.
5. There was a need for enhanced cooperation in sports through joint training for Uganda to tap into the prowess of Kenyans especially in athletics.
6. In terms of food security, Kenya can tap into the Ugandan experience since the country seemed to have worked toward being food secure.
