The Senator highlighted that over 4,094 teachers have died since 2016 and that over 30,000 had recorded occupational illnesses and injuries. He noted that the estimated value of compensation that is legally due to teachers is in excess of Kshs. 25 billion.

In conclusion, the Senator called upon the government through the Ministry of Public Service, Gender and Affirmative Action and the National Treasury and Economic Planning, to enforce compliance with the PSSS Act No. 8 of 2012 and the Human Resource and Procedure Manual of May 2016, to address the ballooning compensation dues.

- iii.) Nominated Senator (Sen. Abdullahi Miraj, MP) made a statement concerning the indignity and challenges suffered by women and girls during menstruation.

Thereupon, the Senator underscored the existing societal taboos and shame surrounding menstruation in certain communities. She emphasized the urgent need for better access to information, safe menstrual materials, and proper facilities for menstrual hygiene management, observing that many adolescent girls and women struggle to afford sanitary pads. The Senator expressed concern that this vulnerability leads to some engaging in risky behaviour such as sex for money, in order to afford sanitary products.

The Senator also drew the attention of the Senate to the fact that most school-going girls of menstrual age were often absent from school during menstruation due to lack of adequate sanitary materials. She pointed out that this situation disadvantages them over their male counterparts.
