In the Statement, the Senator stated that the Nandi County Government had failed to harmonize promotions for healthcare workers, leaving them in poor working conditions without medical cover, and with unpaid statutory deductions despite these deductions being reflected on their pay slips. The Senator highlighted that illegal mass layoffs and payroll irregularities that have left the remaining staff overburdened and unable to cope with the increased workload.

The Senator further stated that during his visit to Kapsabet County Referral Hospital on 1st December, 2024, he noted the absence of painkillers, gloves, and syringes which forced patients to purchase these items from nearby chemists. The Senator reported that patients were sleeping on dilapidated beds, sharing spaces, and even lying in corridors without medication or specialized attention.

In conclusion, the Senator called upon the Nandi County Executive to take steps to ensure that medical services are restored in Nandi County and called upon the Nandi County Assembly to undertake its oversight function. He also urged the Standing Committee on Health to visit the Kapsabet County Referral Hospital and other health facilities in the county and make appropriate recommendations thereon.

The Senator cited notable women leaders such as Chief Justice Martha Koome and Deputy Chief Justice Philomena Mwilu as evidence of Kenya's commitment to gender parity.

The Senator stated that the conference featured distinguished speakers, including Ambassador Gertrude Mongela and Dr. Louisa Akaiso, who shared insights on the challenges women faced in leadership and emphasized the need for greater female representation at all decision-making levels. A significant outcome of the event was the launch of the Women at the Ballot Campaign, an initiative aimed at equipping women with the tools and resources necessary to run for office, win, and lead effectively.

In conclusion, the Senator called on leaders and policymakers to support efforts to empower women to take leadership positions either through the ballot and in positions of power.
