Remand by court. 36A. (1) Pursuant to Article 49(1) (f) and (g) of the Constitution, a police officer shall present a person who has been arrested in court within twenty-four hours after being arrested.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), if a police officer has reasonable grounds to believe that the detention of a person arrested beyond the twenty-four hour period is necessary, the police officer shall—

- (a) produce the suspect before a court; and
- (b) apply in writing to the court for an extension of time for holding the suspect in custody.

(3) An application under subsection (2) shall be supported by an affidavit sworn by the police officer and shall specify —

- (a) the nature of the offence for which the suspect has been arrested;
- (b) the general nature of the evidence on which the suspect has been arrested;
- (c) the inquiries that have been made by the police in relation to the offence and any further inquiries proposed to be made by the police; and
- (d) the reasons necessitating the continued holding of the suspect in custody.

(4) In determining an application under subsection (2), the court shall consider any objection that the suspect may have in relation to the application and may—

- (a) release the suspect unconditionally;
- (b) release the suspect subject to such conditions as the court may impose to ensure that the suspect—
 - (i) does not, while on release, commit an offence, interfere with witnesses or the investigations in relation to the offence for which the suspect has been arrested;
 - (ii) is available for the purpose of facilitating the conduct of investigations and the preparation of any report to be submitted to the court dealing with the matter in respect of which the suspect stands accused; and
 - (iii) appears at such a time and place as the court may specify for the purpose of conducting preliminary proceedings or the trial or for the purpose of assisting the police with their inquiries; or
- (c) having regard to the circumstances specified under subsection (5), make an order for the remand of the suspect in custody.

(5) A court shall not make an order for the remand in custody of a suspect under subsection (4) (c) unless—

- (a) there are compelling reasons for believing that the suspect shall not appear for trial, may interfere with witnesses or the conduct of investigations, or commit an offence while on release;
- (b) it is necessary to keep the suspect in custody for his protection, or, where the suspect is a minor, for his welfare;
- (c) the suspect is serving a custodial sentence; or
- (d) the suspect, having been arrested in relation to the commission of an offence, has breached a condition for his release.

(6) The court may, for the purpose of ensuring the attendance of a suspect under subsection (4)(b)(ii) or (iii), require the suspect—

- (a) to execute a bond for such reasonable amount as the court considers appropriate in the circumstances; and
- (b) to provide one or more suitable sureties for the bond.

(7) Where a court makes an order for the remand of a suspect under subsection (4) (c), the period of remand shall not exceed thirty days.

(8) A police officer who detains a suspect in respect of whom an order has been issued under subsection (4) (c) may, at any time before the expiry of the period of remand specified by the court, apply to the Court for an extension of that period.

(9) The court shall not make an order for the extension of the time for remand under subsection (8) unless it is satisfied that having regard to the circumstances for which an order was issued under subsection (4) (c), it is necessary to grant the order.

(10) Where the court grants an extension under subsection (9), such period shall not, together with the period for which the suspect was first remanded in custody, exceed ninety days.

CLAUSE 19

Disclosure
by prosecution.

42A. (1) Pursuant to Article 50(2)(j) of the Constitution, the prosecution shall inform the accused person in advance of the evidence that the prosecution intends to rely on and ensure that the accused person has reasonable access to that evidence.

(2) In proceedings under the Prevention of Terrorism Act, the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (Control) Act, the Prevention of Organized Crimes Act, the Proceeds of Crime and Anti-Money Laundering Act and the Counter-Trafficking in Persons Act, the prosecution may, with leave of court, not disclose certain evidence on which it intends to rely until immediately before the hearing—

- (a) if the evidence may facilitate the commission of other offences;
- (b) if it is not in the public interest to disclose such evidence;
- (c) where there are grounds to believe that disclosing such evidence might lead to an attempt being improperly made to persuade a witness to make a statement retracting his original statement, not to appear in court or otherwise to intimidate him.”;

(3) Evidence shall be deemed to be in the public interest, if that evidence —

- (a) touches on matters of national security;
- (b) touches on the identity of an informant where there are good reasons for believing that disclosure of the informant’s identity may place the family of the informant in danger;
- (c) discloses the identity of a witness who might be in danger of assault or intimidation if his identity is known;
- (d) contains details which, if they become known, might facilitate the commission of other offences or alert someone not in custody that the person was a suspect; or
- (e) discloses some unusual form of surveillance or method of detecting crime.

(4) Disclosure of evidence to the Court and the accused person under this section shall be done in camera.
